Julian Alps

The Julian Alps are the southeasternmost part of the Alpine arc and at the same time the mountain range that marks the border between Slovenia and Italy.

They are usually divided into the Eastern and Western Julian Alps. The Eastern Julian Alps, which make up approximately three-quarters of the range and cover an area of 1,542 km², lie entirely on the Slovenian side of the border and are the largest and highest Alpine range in Slovenia. The highest peak is Triglav (2,864 metres), but there are more than 150 other peaks over 2,000 metres high. The emerald river Soča rises on one side of the Julian Alps, in the Primorska region; the two headwaters of the river Sava – the Sava Dolinka and the Sava Bohinjka – rise on the other side, in the Gorenjska region.

The Julian Alps ~ the kingdom of Zlatorog

Chamois

The Triglav rose

According to an ancient legend a white chamois with golden horns lived in the mountains. The people of the area named him Zlatorog, or "Goldhorn". He guarded the treasures of nature. One day a greedy hunter set off into the mountains and, ignoring the warnings, tracked down Zlatorog and shot him. Blood ran from his wounds and fell to the ground. Where it landed, a miraculous plant, the Triglav rose, sprang up. Zlatorog ate the flowers of this plant and its magical healing powers made him invulnerable. At the same time, however, he was saddened by the greed of human beings. He withdrew into the mountains and was never seen again, but he still watches over the natural world of the Julian Alps.

The Julian Alps take their name from the medieval Forum Iulii, present-day Friuli. The name originally referred only to the town of Cividale del Friuli, founded by Julius Caesar in 52 BC. The Julian Alps are built of Mesozoic marine sediments. Tectonic forces created fractures and folding and carved out magnificent rock faces and peaks. The varied flora and fauna rightly enjoy considerable fame. Natural riches, plentiful water sources and a favourable climate created conditions for early settlement in this wonderful corner of Europe. The Julian Alps are one of the world's treasures - a challenge to every climber and a source of pleasure for every traveller.

Bohinj

In the modern world it is easy to grow weary of the frenetic pace of life. Constantly under stress, we never have enough time to relax and find peace. In the Julian Alps, though, time seems to come to a stop and the indomitable spirit of nature fills the soul of the hill-walker or mountaineer – whether alone or in company – whatever the season.

We Slovenes are a mountain nation. That is the reason we chose Triglav for our symbol. Mountains have given a characteristic stamp to the people of Slovenia. Very early on, this awareness and wisdom led Slovenes to create protected areas of nature in the Julian Alps. We know that what nature and the original inhabitants of this land have created over the course of long centuries must be protected. At the same time it is our duty to show the world the priceless gifts which have so nobly shaped our national character.

That is why one should go to the Julian Alps in a solemn, dignified manner, without placing a burden on nature. All we should take from the mountains are beautiful views, silence and peace – the basic elements of inner strength, creativity and self-awareness. The Julian Alps are a natural doctor for the aching soul of modern, urban man.

For the Slovenes, the Triglav National Park is a supreme example of natural and cultural heritage. It is also one of the oldest national parks in Europe. Not only that, it is a gallery of uncommonly beautiful images, an open-air museum and a refuge for restless spirits seeking harmony with themselves in harmony with nature. The excellence and professionalism of the enthusiasts who run the park conserve for us the originality of nature and the cultural landscape and ensure the co-existence of nature and modern man. The Triglav National Park is the pride of the Julian Alps and the only national park in Slovenia. The park was conceived in as long ago as 1906 and originally centred on the area of the Triglav lakes. In 1981 the park was enlarged. It now covers practically the whole of the Julian Alps in Slovenia and measures 840 square kilometres. The highest point of the park is the peak of Mt Triglav (2864 metres), the highest mountain in Slovenia, from which the park takes its name; the lowest point is in the Tolmin Gorges (180 metres). The unique natural and cultural heritage of this area of Slovenia is fully contained within the borders of the Triglav National Park.

The national park is divided into three conservation areas. In the core area, which consists of the first and second conservation areas, nature conservation takes priority. The third conservation area, in which people live and work, is designed to protect the cultural landscape and encourage sustainable husbandry and characteristic local activities.

JULIAN ALPS UNESCO BIOSPHERE RESERVE

In 2003 the Julian Alps UNESCO Biosphere Reserve was established in the Triglav National Park and the wider

Julian Alps area. Biosphere reserves are protected under UNESCO's Man and the Biosphere (MAB) programme. Today more than 500 biosphere reserves in more than 100 countries around the world represent a model of management for the conservation of biodiversity, improvement of life quality and the maintenance of socially, economically and culturally conditioned circumstances that ensure environmentally friendly development. The importance of biosphere reserves lies above all in the fact that they offer an answer to one of the most important questions of the present age: how to reconcile the conservation of biological and landscape diversity and natural resources with sustainable development.

The creation of the Julian Alps UNESCO Biosphere Reserve is not only a prestigious recognition but a responsibility and an opportunity to invite people into a world of unique and unrepeatable natural beauty, breathtaking landscapes and cultural heritage below Mount Triglav!

That which nature has created and which awakens the noblest sentiments in visitors must be respected and conserved. Slovenia and the Slovenes have been richly blessed with natural wonders. Let us stop for a moment or two and rid ourselves of stress, of pressure, of the rush of everyday city life. Nature is the best physician and the greatest artist.

The Julian Alps and the Triglav National Park are one big natural heritage site. It would be impossible to list all the natural wonders they contain. Many are hidden in difficult-to-reach areas of the mountains. We shall therefore list only the most popular sights, which draw hosts of visitors every year. In the Soča Valley this means the river Soča, in particular its source and its wild gorges, the Boka and Kozjak waterfalls and the Tolmin Gorges. In Bohinj the first thing we notice is the lake. Most visitors trek up to the Savica waterfall, and nearly as many take a walk along the wonderful gorges of the Mostnica. Lake Bled has long been a recognised symbol of Slovenia. Vintgar Gorge is another of the best known natural sights. A magnificent panoramic view of the mountains of the Martuljek group can be admired from the village of Gozd Martuljek, which is also the starting point for a fantastic hike past the Peričnik waterfall to the foot of Triglav's north face.

CYCLING

Bohinj cycling route

Cycling through the Soča Valley

Like the whirling wheels of time, now slow, now fast. Exploring the wonderful Julian Alps by bicycle is a way to understand the value and meaning of time. Cycling is undoubtedly one of the most suitable ways to travel through the Julian Alps. Maps showing cycle routes are available in every tourism centre. Just as with hiking, the options available to cyclists include both easy and pleasant family tours and the most difficult mountain ascents and descents. The two best cycling destinations are Kranjska Gora and Bohinj. The best way to explore the Julian Alps along the route that crosses Slovenia from north to south or on a circular road tour round the Triglav National Park is by mountain bike.

Gliding

Flying has been a desire of humankind since time immemorial. To admire the birds and use our ingenuity to imitate them. Safe in the passenger seat of a light aircraft, between the cords of a parachute, beneath the wing of a hang-glider.

There are two sports airfields in the Julian Alps, one in Lesce (near Radovljica) and the other in Bovec. Both are ideal starting points for tourist flights and glider flights over the Alpine peaks, although the Bovec airfield is more challenging and less well equipped.

Every year the Lesce airfield hosts a parachute World Cup competition in accuracy landing. The airfield also hosts an international aeromodelling event.

In the Bohinj, Soča Valley and Kranjska Gora areas there are a series of launch points for hang-gliders and paragliders. The best-known launch points are Kobala above Tolmin and Stol above Kobarič, both popular venues for national competitions and European Cup and World Cup events.

When you lace your boots up tight and close the door behind you, that is when you start to live your real life. It is the journey that is important, not the destination. Whether you are crunching snow beneath your feet, tramping through autumn leaves of wonderful colours or listening to the trilling of birds in summer. The Julian Alps offer an infinite range of hiking opportunities. From paths leading to natural sights and strolls in the valleys, to wanders in the Alpine foothills and demanding ascents into the high mountains. A walk of two to four hours separates the many climbers' huts and refuges dotted across the region.

Good-quality maps cover the entire area. Every part of the Julian Alps offers its own special features. In the Soča Valley, the most beautiful paths are those along rivers and streams or leading to waterfalls. In the Kranjska Gora area, there are wonderful excursions to the Alpine valleys cut deep between the mountain peaks. Bled and Bohinj offer relaxing lakeside strolls, while in the area around Radovljica tracks and paths lead to ruined castles and hilltop churches offering breathtaking views.

A good grip, harmony of movements, never exceeding your capabilities but moving acrobatically on the border of daring. The profundity of living makes sense when you are standing on a mountain peak. Winter or summer, it is the weather and a courageous heart that will determine your victories.

The Julian Alps may not reach great heights but in terms of the dimensions of their rock faces they are the equal of other European mountains over four thousand metres high. Travnik, Špik, Triglav and Mangart are the best known peaks, with faces rising 800 to 1,000 metres towards the sky. The northern face of Triglav - 3 kilometres wide and 1200 metres high - is the third largest in Europe. There are thousands of routes to try. Together they present an eternal challenge to all those with enough knowledge and courage to tackle them.

Down in the valleys, near the main tourist areas, sports climbers can choose from more than 30 fully equipped climbing centres. These are mainly concentrated in Bohinjska Bela, Bohinj and the Soča Valley.

Winter ascents into the mountains are of course the province of the best climbers. Many more visitors head for the frozen waterfalls which can be found in every Alpine valley. The best known areas for this type of climbing are Log pod Mangartom near Bovec and the Tamar Valley near Rateče. An ice climbing centre in Mojstrana organises climbs in the Mlačka Gorge every winter.

We came from the water and to the water we will return. The possibility of fun or adventure on the water is open to everyone. Whether it is a rushing river or a tranquil Alpine lake, foaming rapids or the limpid calm of a smooth surface, returning to the water is an infinite happiness.

The waters of the Julian Alps can be the object of enchanted wonder or the source of a vast range of activities. The simplest way to discover them can be walks along the banks of streams, rivers and lakes. All three lakes - Lake Bled, Lake Bohinj and the reservoir at Most na Soči - offer easy boating or organised boat trips, either in a characteristic Bled "pletna" or aboard one of the tourist vessels at Bohinj or Most na Soči.

In terms of competitive sport, Bled is famous for producing world-class rowers and as a world championship rowing venue, Bohinj hosts an Ironman triathlon and the Soča is a venue for major international kayaking events. In terms of modern adrenaline sports, the wild beauty that is the river Soča is undoubtedly the best known venue in Slovenia. Every year tens of thousands of visitors enjoy an unforgettable experience with rafts, canoes or hydro-speeds. These activities are also popular on the river Sava. The many interesting ravines and gorges across the area offer plenty of opportunities for canyoning. Agencies offering qualified guides and instructors and high-quality equipment for water sports and other outdoor activities can be found in many locations throughout the Julian Alps.

From the riverbank or in waders in the middle of a stream, with patience and passion we await the duel. Fishing is simultaneously a sport and an art. The wise give life back to nature. It is a question of balance!

Fishing is one of the elite tourist disciplines of the area. The Soča, the Lepenjica, the Idrijca, the Bača, the Sava, Lake Bohinj, the Radovna and a wealth of smaller streams offer over 200 kilometres of prime fishing waters. Fly-fishing, spinning and float fishing are permitted. The most common fish are trout and grayling. The marble trout, endemic to the river basins of the northern Mediterranean, is particularly famous. Fishing waters are carefully managed by anglers' clubs in Tolmin, Bohinj, Bled, Jesenice, Radovljica and by the Fisheries Research Institute in Ljubljana.

A Fly-Fishing Festival is held in Bohinj every autumn.

GOLF

Play a round of golf against a backdrop of snow-capped mountains or trees in blossom.

The Julian Alps boast a 27-hole golf course in Bled. One of the most beautiful courses in Europe, it is just two kilometres from the Lesce airfield.

Bovec's golf course lies below the picturesque Kanin range and the magical land of Narnia where Disney filmed the second instalment of the Chronicles of Narnia saga. The nine-hole course hosts an annual Ski & Golf event that even includes a golf match on the snow.

Other golf courses within a radius of 50 kilometres can be found at Volčji Potok (Ljubljana), Tarvisio (just across the border in Italy) and by the lakes of Austrian Carinthia. There are also driving ranges at Kranjska Gora and Bovec.

CUISINE

Every town and village in the Julian Alps has its own culinary speciality. Whether prepared to traditional recipes in traditional local hostelrys or transformed into superlative gourmet creations by top chefs in the finest restaurants.

Tolmin, Bovec and Bohinj cheese, štruklji (boiled strudel) from Kobarid, zaseka (minced lard) from Bohinj, local honey, the famous Bled cream slice... these are the gastronomic trademarks of the Julian Alps. The old traditions are maintained by small inns, guest houses and family-run restaurants, while more recently some of the larger hotels have begun to rediscover them too. Local ingredients prepared in modern ways enrich daily menus and add a special flavour to conferences and formal occasions.

On the Gorenjska side of the Julian Alps, Radovljica and the surrounding area offer traditional local restaurants and the “Taste Radol’ca” initiative, where local honey is among the ingredients used in the dishes of the area. On the other side of the mountains, in the Soča Valley, the best flavours are to be discovered in the local restaurants that form the Kobarid gastronomic circle, perhaps inspired by their proximity to epicurean Italy and the vineyards of Goriška Brda.

Local specialities from the Bohinj area include Mohant cheese, zaseka with sausage and polenta-like žganci made with Bohinjka cornmeal from a local variety of maize. They are presented under the “Bohinjsko” brand, which guarantees the origin and high quality of products and services.

And don’t forget to try the delicious cream slice and other specialities of Bled, under the “Taste Bled” banner.

MEETINGS,
CONFERENCES, SEMINARS

A hospitable environment, stunning scenery and many opportunities for relaxed or lively gatherings make the Julian Alps a great destination for business meetings and professional conferences.

The most important conference venue in the Julian Alps is undoubtedly Bled with its festival hall, Bled Castle, large hotels of suitable quality (Toplice, Golf, Park) and ease of access. Nearby Radovljica with its medieval square and baroque mansion is an excellent location for evening social events. The nearby Lambergh Château & Hotel hosts smaller conferences and seminars. Bled is followed by Kranjska Gora (hotels: Kompas, Ramada Resort Kranjska Gora, Lek and Špik) and Bohinj, which is developing into a conference destination committed to sustainable development. Excellent examples of this include the Bohinj Park Eco-Hotel, the only hotel in Slovenia to hold the international Green Globe certificate, and the smaller Jezero, Zlatorog, Kristal and Tripič hotels. Bovec (Hotel Alp, Pristava Lepena, Triglav National Park information centre in Trenta, the Stergulc House, Penzion Boka) is more suitable for smaller events, seminars and training. Small managerial groups or specialist teams will also find an excellent range of services in Tolmin or Kobarid (Hotel Hvala, Hiša Franko, the Blue House and Hotel Zlata Ribica).

Festival hall Bled

Where are we from, who are we and where are we bound? Cultural events enrich the visitor in a unique way. They affect the soul in a slightly different way to beautiful countryside, a good day out, a bold adventure. You have to know the history of your country in order to be successful in the future. At every step we encounter cultural heritage created over centuries.

So stop and marvel. The cultural landscape has marked the character of the population.

The Julian Alps are a natural and cultural monument. The area's most famous jewels are Bled Castle on its cliff above the lake, the medieval town centre of Radovljica with its imposing baroque mansion, Kamen Castle in Begunje, the mighty fortress of Kluže above the wild gorge of the Koritnica, Kobarid Museum with its account of the bloody Soča (Isonzo) Front and Tolmin Museum, the archaeological centre of western Slovenia. The two information centres of the Triglav National Park – Triglavsko Roža in Bled and Dom Trenta in the Trenta Valley – are well worth a visit. Past and present meet in the Slovenian Alpine Museum in Mojstrana. A rich collection of museum pieces with a varied and colourful history, a great diversity of photographic and archive material and an extensive specialist library offer the visitor an insight into the scale and importance of mountaineering activities in Slovenia. There are many famous churches, among them the basilica dedicated to Mary, Help of Christians in Brezje, the church of St John the Baptist by Lake Bohinj, the church of the Assumption on Bled Island, the church of the Holy Spirit on Javorca, a hill overlooking the valley of the Tolminka, and the Russian chapel below Vršič pass. The Liznjek farmhouse in Kranjska Gora, Pocar Farm in Zgornja Radovna, the Kajžnk House in Rateče, Museum of Apiculture in Radovljica, the Iron Forging Museum in Kropa, the Alpine dairy farming museum and the Oplen House in Bohinj, the Alpine pastures high in the mountains, the Bovec house, the architecture of Breginj or the famous Studor hayracks are wonderful examples of folk know-how and tradition.

TRADITIONAL EVENTS

Events both big and small bring together local cuisine, crafts, music and of course the local people.

There are many traditional events that recall daily life in the Alpine region in days gone by, including the Cow Ball, serenades and rustic weddings in Bohinj and the Blacksmiths' Festival in Kropa. Memories are also evoked by the traditional gathering at the Russian chapel below Vršič pass. The chapel was built in 1916 in memory of Russian prisoners of war.

Each of the lakes – Lake Bled, Lake Bohinj and the reservoir at Most na Soči – has its own glittering summer night full of entertainment, lights and fireworks.

Reflecting the development of sustainable tourism in Bohinj are the Green Weekend and the International Wildflower Festival. The Festival of Hiking and Fishing reflects the ideal conditions for these activities in the area. Kobarid also hosts an annual Hiking Festival each autumn.

A special place of honour in the Alpine scene belongs to popular folk music. At the forefront is the famous Avsenik ensemble. There are also many musical events: Radovljica Festival, Bled Festival, the Okarina world music festival, Čomparska Noč in Bovec, MetalDays and other festivals at the confluence of the Tolminka and Soča rivers, the Bohinj Summer Music Festival, outdoor parties during the World Cup events in Kranjska Gora and Planica.

The only chocolate festival in Slovenia is the Radovljica Chocolate Festival.

All of the above is simply a taste of the hundreds of events you can find on the calendar of every tourist information centre in the area.

MAJOR SPORTS EVENTS

Major sports meetings are among the most famous events in the Julian Alps: the Vitranc Cup – FIS Ski World Cup events in Kranjska Gora and Podkoren – and ski jumping in Planica; the World Rowing Championships and Rowing World Cup in Bled; the Bled Winter Swimming Cup; the Biathlon World Cup in Pokljuka; international ski and snowboard freeride events; regular international white-water kayaking and canoeing events; the Paragliding World Championships and World Cup in Tolmin and Kobarid; and the ICF Canoe Marathon World Cup on Lake Bohinj. In summer Tolmin and Kobarid host the Soča Outdoor Festival, a sporting spectacle in which domestic and foreign competitors face each other in various disciplines. Each June the demanding Four Municipalities Mountain Marathon is held in Podbrdo, which in 2016 will once again be a venue for the World Cup Mountain Running Championships. Smaller sports events – cycling, running, hiking, rowing and a variety of activities in the countryside and on sports fields – take place throughout the summer season on a practically daily basis, since the active component predominates in tourism in the area.

We are a nation with a long skiing tradition. Skis even stand by our cradles. And we do not merely use them to rush down hills. We also rejoice and fly. And get together. Get to know each other. Many people who meet on skis stay together all their lives.

Kranjska Gora, a World Cup venue, is Slovenia's best known resort for Alpine skiing and ski jumping (Planica). Bohinj has the Vogel and Senožeta ski areas, with Soriška Planina not far away. Bovec is an excellent base from which to visit the nearby ski resorts of Sella Nevea and Tarvisio. Bled has the small Straža ski area with a view over Lake Bled. The adrenaline-hungry are well provided for in Kranjska Gora, where the Snow Park is a real challenge for snowboarders and skiers. It is the only snow park in Slovenia that is floodlit at night.

Ski school

The best-known centre for cross-country skiing is Pokljuka, accessible from both Bled and Bohinj, while a trek on skis below the mighty rock faces into the Tamar Valley is a marvellous experience.

In Kranjska Gora (Tromeja), Bovec (Mangart) and Bohinj (Vogar) tobogganing on snowy roads is becoming increasingly popular.

The biggest adventure of all is ski touring high in the mountains - for safety reasons a mountain guide must always be present.

The Julian Alps are becoming increasingly accessible by public transport. The public bus network is complemented in the summer months by special bus services to the notable sights of the area. A train ride along the Bohinj line between Jesenice and Nova Gorica is a very special experience. Boat trips are available on Lakes Bled and Bohinj and on the reservoir at Most na Soči. Bicycles (and electric bicycles) may be hired in numerous locations.

An unforgettable journey aboard a romantic steam train. Views of Lake Bled, the Alpine peaks above Bohinj and the emerald-green Soča.

MOTORAIL

The car shuttle train (Avtovlak) between Bohinjska Bistrica, Podbrdo and Most na Soči is the most comfortable way to get from the Gorenjska side (Bohinj) of the Julian Alps to the Primorska side (Tolmin), making it much easier to see the sights on both sides. Motorbikes, cars and campers are carried. We also recommend the service to cyclists since it saves them the difficult (though beautiful) climb over Soriška Planina (1,277 metres).

HOP-ON, HOP-OFF

Tourist bus service that connects Bled, Bohinj, Pokljuka, Radovljica, Begunje and Kropa in the summer months. Buy a one-day ticket and you can hop off and on again whenever you want. There are numerous sights to see at each stop, including some that are less accessible and less frequently visited.

GAMES OF CHANCE

Roulette

Slot machines

They say that there's no such thing as chance. It is therefore no mere chance that the natural environment of the Julian Alps also offers opportunities for experiences of different types. In the contrasts offered by games of chance, you can find new forms of relaxation and amusement that will fill a rainy day or liven up evenings and nights. Try your luck in popular entertainment centres, where as well as playing the slot machines and taking a seat at the gaming tables, you can eat and drink well, enjoy a dance spectacular or even take to the dance floor yourself. There are several places in Kranjska Gora itself where you can try your luck (at the Korona Casino & Hotel and the Larix Casino), or you can head to Bled or Lesce in your hunt for fortune. If you're in the Soča valley, you can try your luck at Aurora Casino and Cabaret in Staro selo near Kobarid.

In the beginning was hospitality and every guest was welcome. Diligence and industry have built on this tradition, with the result that the visitor can feel perfectly at home - safe, comfortable and relaxed. But still in touch with the whole world.

Visitors to the Julian Alps can relax in a variety of different accommodation. Lovers of the great outdoors can choose camping or immerse themselves in rural life on a farm holiday. Other options include private rooms, apartments and guest houses and a wide range of hotels of different sizes.

Lake Bled with its little island, the castle and the town itself are a fairy-tale vision that never gets old. Full of generosity, sweetness and the beauty of nature. You can swim, skate and row, or ring the bell in the little church on the island. You can enjoy the numerous events that take place in Bled, and walk or run around the lake. Bled's natural wonders have been given added lustre by the visits of crowned heads and great artists and the eminent physicians who have founded the popular spa on the lake shore, not to mention the many young couples who have exchanged their vows here. Bled has been a member of the Alpine Pearls Association since 2008. Thanks to its location Bled is an excellent base for hiking expeditions (Vintgar Gorge, Pokljuka Hole, Cave below Babji Zob). It is also known around the world as a centre of business tourism.

Capacities

The beginnings of tourism in Bled date back to 1855 when the Swiss hydrotherapist Arnold Rikli was one of the first people to recognise the value and benefits of Bled's climate and situation. Today guests can stay in hotels with three, four or five stars or in a range of guest houses, youth hostels, a campsite and private accommodation.

Bled is Slovenia's leading Alpine summer holiday resort. The lake with its island and church and the old castle above the town make Bled one of the most beautiful and romantic tourist destinations in the world. The beauty of the mountains is reflected in the surface of the lake. Visitors can enjoy sunshine, peace and fresh air in all seasons and ideal conditions are guaranteed for a pleasant break or an active holiday. Bled is popular with the business community, artists, athletes, researchers, sports enthusiasts, young and old – from all over the world. Its enchanting beauty means that visitors always want to return.

Castle printing press

The most visited cultural attraction in Slovenia

Bled Castle is one of the oldest castles in Slovenia. The first written reference to the castle dates from 22 May 1011, when Henry II of Germany granted it to Adelberon, Bishop of Brixen. The image of the castle above the lake with its romantic little island and church is the classic view of Bled that over the centuries has become recognisable around the world. The castle's terraces offer an extraordinary view over the Gorenjska (Upper Carniola) region, between the Karavanke range and the Julian Alps.

The castle buildings are ranged around courtyards on two levels. The buildings on the lower level contain the castle printing press, the Primož Trubar Memorial Room, the Stolp gallery and a bar serving refreshments. The intermediate level contains a wine cellar and herbarium.

Around the upper courtyard are the two most important parts of the castle building: the sixteenth-century chapel and the museum, whose exhibits tell the story of the historical development of the area around Lake Bled from the Bronze Age to the present day. Here too are the castle restaurant, with its panoramic terrace, and the castle forge. Both levels are protected by high Romanesque walls with a parapet walk, entrance tower and imposing Gothic defence tower.

Bohinj lies at the heart of the Triglav National Park. Every season is a unique experience in Bohinj. The rushing of the waters in spring, the uneasy calm of nature and people in summer, the magic play of sunlight and colours in autumn, the snow-white peace of winter. This is a place of myths and legends (for example the legend of Zlatorog).

From the mountains, whose mighty bulk surrounds and protects the lake, Lake Bohinj is like a mirror reflecting eternity and strength. The origins of ironworking in Slovenia are to be found in Bohinj. The tradition survives to the present day, especially in the area around Prešeren's manor Ajdovski Gradec. The first world war linked the Bohinj basin to the events on the Soča (Isonzo) Front in the Soča valley. Another important sight is the railway tunnel built in 1906 which still connects the Gorenjska and Primorska regions and enables access to the Julian Alps from the sea. You have to get up early and set off from Bohinj when it is still dark in order to conquer the mountain peaks and dispel fatigue with the wonderful views they afford. Vogel, the Savica waterfall, the museum of Alpine dairy farming, the Devil's Bridge, Studor, the Triglav lakes and the Sava river: plenty to fill your days until the silence wishes you goodnight.

Don't go to Bohinj if you are looking for big hotels, budget restaurants, smoke-filled snack bars, swimming amidst shrieking hordes, queues for cable cars and drag lifts, cyclists hurtling up hill and down dale, racing paragliders, the pastel mosaics of packed car parks, a rubbish-strewn lake shore, deafening music booming out from every bar, markets selling junk to tourists...

Bohinj is a perfectly preserved jewel where citizens of the modern world can find their good, peaceful side in reflections of nature. More than two-thirds of Bohinj lies within the Triglav National Park and so all tourism activities, from hiking, cycling, fishing, water sports and winter sports to gastronomy are oriented towards natural, sustainable tourism. This means that Bohinj is not a shopping centre in a desolate landscape of illegal rubbish dumps but a boutique gallery in an exclusive district of an ancient town of all that is choicest and most precious – and not for sale. Even Agatha Christie, who knew a thing or two about human nature, once declared that Bohinj was too beautiful for murder.

Dolina Soče

The Soča Valley, which links the towns of Bovec, Kobarid and Tolmin, was the first European Destination of Excellence (EDEN) in Slovenia. It offers visitors a rich blend of active, cultural and historical experiences in a stunning natural setting. The valley's main attraction is the emerald-green Soča, one of the most beautiful rivers in Europe. It is no coincidence that Walt Disney Pictures chose it as a location for Prince Caspian, the second part of the Chronicles of Narnia series.

The various tributaries of the Soča also flow into the valley, creating crystal-clear pools and waterfalls. Most notable among them are Boka, Slovenia's most majestic waterfall, and the mysterious Kozjak, trapped in its natural amphitheatre. One of the most popular natural sights in the valley are the deep and narrow Tolmin Gorges, carved into the living rock.

But the Soča Valley is not only for nature lovers: it is famous across Slovenia and beyond as an important centre for outdoor activities. The valley offers countless opportunities for sports and recreation: water sports (kayaking, rafting, canyoning), fishing, hiking, cycling, zip-line, parachuting and paragliding, flying, climbing; and in winter, family skiing, cross-country skiing, tobogganing and snow-shoeing.

Visitors can combine active adventures with discovering the cultural heritage that still lives in the Alpine pastures, on old farms, in traditional events and in the local gastronomy. The most distinctive local products, frequently found in the valley's cuisine, include honey and Bovec and Tolmin cheese. Sweet treats include štruklji from Kobarid and krafi from Bovec. This area of wonderful and unspoilt nature and cultural heritage in Slovenia's Alpine region is protected as part of the Triglav National Park.

The Soča (Isonzo) Front is part of world history and, as we mark the centenary of the start of the First World War, an eloquent warning. Monuments from this period are linked together to form the Walk of Peace.

Tolmin, the administrative centre of the valley, lies on a sunny terrace above the confluence of the Soča and Tolminka rivers. During the First World War it was the starting point of a victorious breakthrough on the Soča (Isonzo) Front. The thousand-year-old ruins of the castle above the town are a reminder of its rich history. The Tolmin area offers a wide range of outdoor activities. In recent years Tolmin has also become a venue for festivals of various kinds.

Tolmin and the surrounding area offer accommodation for more than 1,700 guests. More than 400 places are available in the campsites by the Soča and Tolminka rivers, while more than 450 guests can be accommodated in hotels and guest houses. Roughly the same number of beds are available in apartments and private rooms and on farms. Youth hostels in the town and mountain huts beneath the Alpine peaks offer a further 400 beds.

For more than 60 years the Tolmin Angling Society has been managing the waters of the Soča, Idrijca, Bača, Nadiža and Tolminka and their tributaries in the municipalities of Bovec, Kobarid and Tolmin. The biggest draw in these rivers is the marble trout (Salmo marmoratus), which is endemic to these waters and can grow to an enormous size. It is in fact the largest European trout. Other interesting fish include hybrid trout species, brown trout and rainbow trout, grayling, barbel and chub.

In the past the marble trout risked extinction as a result of cross-breeding with the brown trout, introduced to Slovenia almost a hundred years ago. In the 1980s some surviving pure marble trout populations were discovered in remote streams. For the last 18 years the Tolmin Angling Society has been running a research and protection project for this unique fish and its survival is now guaranteed.

Sport fishing with barbless flies is possible from 1 April to 31 October with a licence. You can buy a catch and release fishing licence or a standard licence that allows you a catch of three fish.

The idyllic image of an Alpine village which has carried the fame of Slovene skiing around the world and is a popular destination for active holidays in summer or winter. The old village centre has developed into a genuine, picturesque jewel of tourism in the Gorenjska region. Here, natural simplicity and worldly sophistication meet. The figure of Kekec personifies the quick wits of the people of Kranjska Gora. The skiing and ski jumping World Cup events testify to the excellence of their organisation and hospitality. The source of the Sava Dolinka river, which ends its journey in the Black Sea, is remarkable for its tranquillity.

Kranjska Gora is a crossroads: towards the sea over the Vršič pass, past the Russian chapel and the Giantess; you can also head towards Italy via Podkoren or to Austria over the Korensko Sedlo. Nearby is Planica with its flying heroes (ski jumpers) and tasty mushrooms which peep above ground in the moonlight. Since 1904 it has been an ideal place for relaxation or an active break.

Vivid experiences of the Julian Alps await you in Kranjska Gora and the surrounding villages. Experiences you will want to try yourself. Enjoy the peaceful exploration of natural and cultural heritage and take advantage of a wide range of wellness facilities to discover the secrets of well-being. Whether you are here for business meetings or social gatherings, or to explore the mysterious past of the Upper Savinja Valley with your family, you will never be bored here.

In both summer and winter Kranjska Gora is a destination that offers a wide range of active adventures. These include hiking on walking trails and mountain paths, Nordic walking and cycling – always popular with the young and young at heart.

For those thirsty for adrenaline, the Fun Bike Park offers plenty of thrills. Recreational cyclists can enjoy a ride to one of the area's farm tourism establishments or mountain huts.

You can relax with a golf club or a flyfishing rod. Or you can take up the challenge of mountain climbing, ski across varied terrain, test your endurance in cross-country skiing, enjoy romantic tobogganing and ice skating, or set off on an adventurous ski tour.

A wide range of accommodation options are available. You can stay in hotels with three or four stars, numerous private rooms and apartments, guest houses, a campsite and mountain huts and lodges.

The building

The story of Pr' Gavedarjo begins with a small cottage in the centre of the village which our great-grandfather bought before the First World War and thus began writing the story of our home.

Rooms with a story

In our rooms, old family stories and cultural heritage interweave with environmental awareness, attention to detail and cosy domesticity. But it is you who fill them, with your own stories, sensations and experiences. When we mix all these stories together, adding a pinch of passion and a drop of love, Pr' Gavedarjo comes alive in all its splendour.

We believe in the sustainable development of tourism and are fully committed to this in our business.

ECO - Fall asleep in the warm embrace of bed linen made from organic Fair Trade certified natural cotton. To keep you warm in winter, the house has a modern heating system that uses wood biomass.

LOCAL - Wake up in the morning to a breakfast consisting of produce from the neighbouring farms. Natural and genuinely local flavours guarantee that your day gets off to the best possible start.

HERITAGE - Your room contains an old wooden chest that once belonged to our grandmother, lovingly restored old furniture, wall paintings and heritage with a touch of the modern. Pr' Gavedarjo is committed to conserving the unique cultural heritage of the area.

NATURAL - Certified organic produce at breakfast, bed linen made from the finest natural cotton, renovations carried out using natural materials and heating from wood biomass. At Pr' Gavedarjo we aim to live at one with nature.

SLOVENE - We also represent our homeland by using high-quality products made by companies from Slovenia.

Close to Bled and between the Julian Alps and the Karavanke, discover the sweet treasures of the region of Radol'ca. Centuries-old towns and villages, excellent cuisine, traditions in beekeeping, iron forging and music. All in an environment offering unspoilt nature and charming encounters with the past.

The medieval town centre of Radovljica has one of the best preserved town structures in Slovenia. It contains excellently preserved town houses, a baroque mansion, restaurants, galleries and museums. It also hosts a number of festivals, concerts and other events. Two of the most popular attractions are the Museum of Apiculture and the Lectar Gingerbread Workshop, where visitors can watch the traditional production of gingerbread hearts.

The town of Begunje na Gorenjskem lies on the sunny Radovljica plain beneath the ridges of the Karavanke. The town is the birthplace of the renowned musician Slavko Avsenik and the home of Slovene popular folk music. Kamen Castle, the Katzenstein Mansion and the Avsenik Museum are also located here. Nearby is the village of Brezje with its Church of the Virgin Mary, the largest pilgrimage centre in Slovenia, and Lesce which has a sports airfield and the Gorenjska Beekeeping Centre.

Situated beneath the Jelovica plateau in the Lipnica Valley is the village of Kropa. Here the centuries-old tradition of iron-forging is evident in its heritage-protected centre, the Iron Forging Museum, the preserved forge and artistic forging.

Radovljica and its surroundings also offer first-class local cuisine and a number of annual events such as the Festival of Chocolate (April), the Early Music Festival (August), the Avsenik Music Festival and a number of smaller events and concerts.
