Dear partners of Slovenian tourism!

Slovenia is a green and boutique country located in the hearth of Europe, which amazes with an incredible diversity on a relatively tiny area. This is the place, where the Alps, the mysterious Karst, the Pannonian plains and the Mediterranean meet and the place which could easily be referred to as the homeland of sustainability in tourism.

On every step and 365 days a year, Slovenia offers diverse authentic five-star experiences. Unique and authentic stories, unspoiled nature, amazing outdoors, short distances between places worth visiting, geographical diversity, the warmth of the locals and superb gastronomy based on quality local ingredients are the main assets that make the country not only worth visiting, but also coming back.

When it comes to gastronomy, Slovenia is a rising star on the world's gastronomical map with well-established fundamental sustainable principles. Recently, a new category within the Green Scheme has been introduced: the Slovenia Green Cuisine label. Restaurants have to adopt seven sustainability principles that bind them to the further implementation of sustainable gastronomy. For 2021, we were also awarded the prestigious title of European Region of Gastronomy, which we are especially proud of. Also, let us not forget that in 2020, we finally joined the Michelin Guide family – Slovenia received astounding 7 stars in the first year alone.

Also for Slovenian tourism, 2020 was the year that changed everything. It is considered to be the most challenging year for the hospitality and tourism industry in the history of Slovenia. A year full of challenges and yet also full of opportunities for better and even more sustainable tourism.

At the Slovenian Tourist Board, we believe that it is not the strongest that survives but the most adaptable to change. To assure safe and sustainable holidays, we have developed safe travel standards and launched them under the Green & Safe label recognised by the WTTC and its 'Safe travels' programme. Our efforts remain focused on providing the guests with unique, sustainable and safe experiences creating unforgettable memories, which is also one of the reasons why Slovenia can be found on several bucket lists in the world's most renowned media.

We would be delighted to tell you more about this inspiring green story of Slovenia. Get to know Slovenia and join us at virtual B2B events, including the Feel sLOVEni@ Business Date, and online trainings. Though we miss real-life events, we first and foremost miss you. And if virtual is the way to go, we will do it, until we will not be able to meet in person. Let our green story inspire you to create amazing stories for your clients in "the New Normal".

From Slovenia with love,

MSc. Maja Pak
Director of the Slovenian Tourist Board

SLOVENIAN TOURIST BOARD

“A green boutique global destination for high-end visitors seeking diverse and active experiences, peace, and personal benefits.”

This is the vision of the tourist destination Slovenia, as perceived and pursued by the Slovenian Tourist Board (STB), the central national agency for the promotion of tourism. Systematic planning, development and promotion activities and a modern approach to the placement of Slovenia on the global tourist map – this is what has particularly helped the STB in recent years to increase the recognisability and reputation of the country as an authentic boutique destination for five-star experiences, which is committed to sustainability.

Increasing Slovenia’s recognisability and image as a tourist destination under the brand I feel Slovenia.

Sustainable growth by increasing arrivals and over-night stays throughout the year - 365 days of Slovenian tourism.

Geographic dispersion of flows across Slovenia – also with the support of implementing the concept of four macro destinations.

Increasing consumption by extending the average duration of stay and consumption, strengthening products with higher added value.

Focusing on high-end visitors seeking high-quality, diverse, and active experiences, peace, and personal benefits.

Implementation of Recovery and resilience plan of Slovenian tourism 2021-2023, for mitigating the impact of the Covid-19 pandemic on tourism economy.

RESPONSIBLE TRAVEL
STANDARDS - SLOVENIAN

OPERATING SAFELY AND RESPONSIBLY

In a country that has been among the safest in the world for years, the safety of residents and guests is furthermore maintained with high levelled hygiene measures, responsible behaviour of the tourist providers and self-protective behaviour.

5 FACTS THAT PROVE SLOVENIA IS A SAFE AND RESPONSIBLE CHOICE

The I feel Slovenia brand is trustworthy.

The I feel Slovenia brand is still trusted by guests from all around the world. During the uncertainty of the epidemic, Slovenia has managed to keep the trust by establishing a platform which combines sustainable principles, responsible travel standards, and the hygiene protocols of the National Institute of Public Health, which are based on the recommendations of the World Health Organisation. The system that promotes the unified responsible operation of tourist destinations and operators carries the Green&Safe label.

Among the first destinations to obtain the Safe Travels stamp.

Thanks to suitable measures and a quick response to the new conditions, Slovenia was among the first countries in 2020 to receive the global Safe Travels stamp. This accolade is conferred by the World Travel & Tourism Council (WTTC).

One of the safest countries in the world.

According to international criteria, this green country is a safe tourist destination. According to the GPI (Global Peace Index), Slovenia has been among the safest countries in the world for many years. In 2019, it was among the top ten countries in the world and the fifth safest country in Europe.

Guest safety is a priority.

The measures for preventing the spread of COVID-19 regulated by the National Institute of Public Health of the Republic of Slovenia are in force throughout the entire country. Additional measures for the safety of guests, employees, and locals are in force in tourism and the hospitality industry. Many service providers and destinations have taken additional measures that exceed the required recommendations. Guests can rely on access to suitable information regarding all measures and recommendations anywhere they go. Destinations and operators have been actively including them in their efforts towards responsible actions.

The fulfilment of the required criteria is verified.

Many tourist operators meet the criteria set by stringent international certification systems. The holders of the Slovenia Green label meet the Green Destinations Standard prescribed by the GSTC (Global Sustainable Tourism Council). Slovenia is a member of the Hotelstars association and its hotel accommodation, categorised with stars, meet European standards. After a revision at the beginning of 2020, these are now even stricter.

FOUNDED ON SUSTAINABILITY

When it comes to sustainable tourism, the green, active, and healthy Slovenia is the best choice. Tourism in Slovenia is developed with a special sense for nature and green experiences. Our aim is to preserve the incredible diversity of this precious corner of the world for the generations to come!

At the 2020 Sustainable Top 100 Destination Awards, Slovenia won the Best of Europe 2020 award for its sustainable models in tourism.

According to the Green Destinations international criteria, Slovenia is the first country in the world to boast the title of a Green Destination.

All the efforts for the sustainable development of tourism in Slovenia are combined under the umbrella of the Green Scheme of Slovenian Tourism, which will be included in the handbook of the European Travel Commission (ETC) as a best practice example for the implementation of green schemes by national tourist boards around Europe.

More than 100 destinations, operators, agencies, parks, and landmarks operate in Slovenia in accordance with the principles and criteria of the Green Scheme of Slovenian Tourism for certification. Their sustainable operations are certified with the Slovenia Green label.

In 2021, the Green Scheme of Slovenian Tourism was complemented by a system for conferring the Slovenia Green Cuisine label. This label will certify that sustainable principles are observed in gastronomy.

Guests who are aware of the negative impacts that tourism can have on the environment choose their holiday destinations responsibly. In Slovenia, one of the greenest countries in the world, sustainability is in the forefront in tourism. Practices are tested and certified.

The Green Scheme of Slovenian Tourism is a certification system that has been educating, encouraging, and awarding sustainable approaches in tourism since 2014. Its effectiveness has caught the attention of experts in tourism around the world. This is proven by numerous international awards and accolades.

The Slovenia Green label is only awarded to the destinations, operators, agencies, and landmarks that meet no fewer than 100 criteria and indicators related to sustainable operations.

In 2021, when Slovenia holds the title of the European Region of Gastronomy, the Green Scheme of Slovenian Tourism will pay special attention to sustainable approaches in gastronomy. The Slovenia Green Cuisine label is used for those that preserve the authentic gastronomic specialties of Slovenia, short supply chains, reduce waste, consume energy responsibly, and in other ways follow sustainable principles.

RESPECTING INDIVIDUALITY

When it comes to tourism, Slovenia has been systematically developing individual boutique five-star experiences in accordance with its strategic goals for years. Slovenia's most significant tourism products are based on ensuring the privacy of guests and fulfilling their wishes. This is another reason why you can experience Slovenia your own way!

Slovenia's boutique experiences are designed for small groups and individuals. They ensure bespoke and very personal experiences of premium quality. An important part of this experience is to discover the full story and enjoy our excellent gastronomy.

Slovenians, known for their hospitality and foreign language proficiency, invite their guests to enjoy the same lifestyle that they have – in touch with nature, with respect to local, and with passion for sustainability.

With its authenticity, Slovenia speaks for a new kind of luxury. It does not offer mass tourism, but safe, responsible, and individual experiences.

Together with experienced incoming agencies and local tour guides, every getaway in this green country or a trip to any of the regions can become a memorable individual experience. Trust the experts!

Ana Ros od Hiša Franko, Slovenia's only two-star Michelin chef: »I hate comfort zones«

By Lisa Hilton, September 2020

Traveler

Michelin-starred food and old-world wine make this an exciting up-and-comer. But it's the sustainable food practices and carefully considered old-world techniques that mean Slovenia is making itself known as a big-hitting foodie hotspot. And the hubbub is well-deserved – 2020 saw the launch of its first Michelin Guide, in which six restaurants – including Hiša Franko, helmed by Ana Roš of Chef's Table fame – were awarded a total of seven stars.

CHEFS OF THE EUROPEAN REGION OF GASTRONOMY, CREATE IN HARMONY WITH NATURE

Slovenia, European Region of Gastronomy 2021, pampers with its cuisine the most demanding seekers of authentic flavours. The country, which became the world's first green destination, surprises with dishes inspired by local ingredients. The best food prepared in Slovenian kitchens comes from gardens and fields cultivated organically. Top chefs and other gastronomic experts also use the fruits of the forest and other native species that grow in the diverse Slovenian landscapes. The flavours of their dishes are enhanced with salt from traditional Adriatic salt-pans, honey collected by an indigenous species of bee, pumpkin seed and olive oils typical of individual regions, wine, which has been drunk here since antiquity, and water, which earned a special place in Slovenia's Constitution. Supreme quality is ensured by respecting the principles of sustainability and green supply chains. You can indulge in boutique 5-star gastronomic experiences when visiting Slovenian restaurants, which are ranked among the best that European cuisine has to offer.

LOCAL FOOD IN »GOSTILNA« AND AT TOURIST FARMS

The views from the terraces of top-quality restaurants and excellent typical inns (gostilna) – the most recognised catering establishments in Slovenia, which frequently preserve family traditions from generation to generation and usually offer regional dishes and typical beverages, the same is also true for tourist farms – turn the tasting of local and regional cuisine into a first-class experience. The most famous dishes which you can try all year round include:

POTICA

a symbol of Slovenian cuisine and a traditional speciality. With its famous walnut filling and many other fillings, it reigns among different cakes, braid cakes and similar dishes;

PREKMURSKA GIBANICA

a protected sweet festive cake with layers of apple, cottage cheese, walnut and poppy seed fillings;

KRANJSKA SAUSAGE

which is the most well-known Slovenian product with protected geographical indication. It has been popular since 1896. Kranjska sausage goes well with sour cabbage and pickled turnip, which are also typical of Slovenia;

PIRAN SEA BASS

a supreme farmed fish, calamari, stuffed or grilled squid, which together with mussels prepared in various local ways prove that Slovenia is also a sea country.

Dishes typical of each region are further supplemented by excellent beverages: clean drinking water can be found everywhere, famous mineral water, organically produced fruit juices, various types of beer styles, spirits typical of each individual region and of course superb Slovenian wines from three wine-producing regions.

WINES OF SLOVENIA

White or red, lushly aromatic, strong, full-bodied or light, dry or sweet – no matter what kind of wine you prefer, you will discover your favourite variety in the three wine-growing regions of Slovenia.

PRIMORSKA

The winegrowing region of authentic native varieties.

The vineyards basking in the Mediterranean sun produce excellent red wines, such as Refošk, Teran, Merlot, Shiraz and Cabernet. Gaining in prominence are the characteristic old white varieties, such as the local Rebula, Zelen, Pinela and many others. Visit the House of Refošk in Koper, the winegrowers in Slovenian Istria and Goriška Brda, Karst and the Vipavska areas, the Dobrovo castle cellar and other remarkable features of the Wine Roads.

PODRAVJE

The winegrowing region of noble white wines.

The winegrowing region of noble white wines. The winegrowing hills of eastern Slovenia are renowned for their superior quality white wines as well as for some red wines. What particularly stands out is their quality tested wines: late harvests, selections, Beerenauslese (BA) wines, ice wines and Trockenbeerenauslese (TBA) wines. The Wine Roads lead to wonders such as the world's oldest grapevine (the Old Vine House in Maribor), one of the biggest tunnel-shaped cellars in this part of Europe (Vinag, Maribor), the cellar with the oldest Slovenian archive wine from 1917 (Ptuj) and many others.

POSAVJE

The winegrowing region of Cviček and other white and red wines.

The land on the right bank of the river Sava boasts Cviček – a registered wine with character, low in alcohol content and with a distinctive acidic taste. There are many who say it has beneficial effects on your health! In addition, the land offers other pleasantly light, rose and white wines. Visit the notable “repnice”, pits dug into quartz sand (Bizeljsko) and other first-class wineries, including those housed in the Rajhenburg Castle under Brestanica and other marvels!

FISHING AND FLY-FISHING

© Sava Dolinka

On an area of more than 20,000 square kilometres, Slovenia has 27,000 kilometres of water courses and around 1,300 lakes larger than one hectare. There are 93 species of fish living in Slovenian waters, of which 33 are protected. Sport fishing favours 25 fish species. Most of them can also be caught with an artificial fly. Fly-fishing has a more than a 100-year-long history and the Slovenian fly-fishing school is renowned around the world.

SALMONIDS

The waters of the Adriatic catchment area are home to particularly interesting native fish species. One of them is the marble trout (Salmo marmoratus) – the largest salmonid species in Slovenia. The area of the Soča River and its tributaries is considered the most beautiful fly-fishing district, but it is also worth discovering lesser-known Slovenian rivers.

A typical representative of the Danube river basin is the Danube salmon (Hucho hucho), the king of Slovenian waters. The rivers suitable for Danube salmon fly-fishing are the Sora, Savinja and Kolpa, but you will have the best chance of success on the Sava Bohinjka River.

CYPRINIDS

Slovenian rivers are also an excellent choice for fishers who like to fish for cyprinids, such as chub, barbel and carp, and for pike, which are fished with streamers.

Slovenian lakes with large fish are also attractive. The largest carp caught to date in Slovenia weighed more than 34 kilograms!

SEA FISHING

In the Slovenian part of the Adriatic Sea, fishers fish from boats for garfish, gilthead seabream and red bream, and out in the open for Atlantic mackerel and common dolphinfish. Those who like spinning from the shore catch squid, cuttlefish, and European seabass at river estuaries.

There are 12 fishing districts in Slovenia offering authentic fishing and fly-fishing experiences. Respect the rules of the fishing districts!

An aerial photograph of Ptuj Castle in Slovenia at sunrise. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a warm, golden glow. A thick layer of fog or mist fills the valley below the castle, partially obscuring the surrounding town and landscape. The castle itself is a large, white, multi-story building with a dark roof, situated on a hillside. To the right, a church with a dark, ornate spire is visible. The sky transitions from a pale blue at the top to a soft orange near the sun.

Slovenia is rich in castles, manors, fortresses and fortification systems. These were built at various times during the medieval, Renaissance and Baroque periods, and the first traces of their construction date all the way back to antiquity. Quite a few mighty buildings survived the test of time; in these you can now see various exhibitions and shows, listen to concerts, dine, spend the night, or experience the wedding of your dreams.
